Choosing the Right Toy for Your Child

Do you have a specific question about toys and play for the child in your life?

It is that time of year again when we all are searching for that special toy for our children. Whether it be a toy that you want to give to your child, or you want to suggest for someone else, what is the correct toy? Is the toy that they see on TV, really appropriate for them? This month's program night is about choosing age appropriate toys for your children. You will learn how to evaluate toys, their appropriateness and how to select toys that are best for a child's specific needs and interests. By understanding and using the four categories of physical, communicative, sensory and cognitive, you will take the guesswork out of toy shopping for children this holiday season.
